

CultureBuddy

Global Nomads Group, Team #17

Global Nomads Group is an international NGO that fosters communication between young people worldwide. The Culture Buddy application allows already established groups to communicate simply, more frequently and at a much lower cost. It lets people from developed countries use their smartphones via the internet to communicate, using voice chat and text messaging, with people in less developed countries, who will use their regular mobile phones. Not only does it offer a new medium for these people to communicate, but it enables the Global Nomads Group to review these encounters to ensure a great experience for all users of the app.